

Una Psicología para todas las Americas

PROMOTING EXCELLENCE IN SUPERVISION WITHIN THE CONTEXT OF HEALTH AND WELL-BEING

Precongress Workshop

About the Workshop

This workshop will explore and analyze best practices related to supervision in professionals within Psychology as a science and application. It will be guided by the recent guidelines of the American Psychological Association and the ethical standards of our colleges and professional associations in the context of the Americas. It will incorporate a theoretical-practical approach to supervision competencies that facilitate the supervisory relationship, standards of excellence, cultural sensitivity, and diversity, as well as the development of supervisees, the well-being of clients and society, with an emphasis on the interdisciplinary dimensions of our profession.

Learning Objectives

- Analysis of theoretical models and definitions: (1) Analysis of evidence-based practices & (2) Reflection and analysis of ethical and professional dilemmas related to supervision.
- Review of the interdisciplinary approach: (1) Convergence between interventions similar to supervision, (2) Identification of areas of collaboration and applications in health and community settings.
- Critical analysis of multicultural competence: (2) Strengthening the attitude of cultural humility in approaching the challenges of diversity.
